World of WHS

FOREWORD

Willard High School is a world. It is a world inhabited by people some of who teach and others who learn. WHS is a world filled with enthusiasm and spirit; a world which offers friendship and companionship in activities.

Each morning as students walk through the doors of Willard High School, the world begins its revolution. Students rush through the halls to lockers and classes. Teachers gather in the office for mail and announcements.

WHS is a world of learning, a world of teaching, and a world of working together. Some classes are meant to prepare students for college and higher education. Business courses lay the foundation for clerical careers. Homemaking, agriculture, and industrial arts courses give students a background in the practical arts of life. Distributive education classes offer on-the-job training. Fine arts courses serve in rounding out the students' personalities. Coordination and physical ability are learned in physical education classes.

WHS is a world motivated by spirit and enthusiasm. School spirit builds as the football team runs onto the gridiron. Cheerleaders captivate the spirit at a basketball game with, "--all for Willard stand up and holler!" Enthusiasm is also shown in other ways at WHS. Students find fun in the first snow fall. A deeper and more meaningful spirit is felt at the Christmas assembly as the student body unites in singing Christmas carols or as a student glances at the Christmas tree in the lobby.

At three o'clock this half of the day at WHS comes to a close, but there is still another half remaining--the world of activities. Activities give students an outlet for their creativity and talents. At WHS a student finds himself a spectator and a participant. There is a fall play and spring musical for dramatically and musically interested students. Musicians are discovered in band and choir. Sports' contests of all types are in this world: football, basketball, track, baseball, and golf. Various clubs and organizations provide many interests. Fun and gaiety keynote the school dances, but these are only stepping stones to the big production in the spring--the Junior-Senior Prom.

The world of Willard High School has come to the end of another revolution. In June the seniors of 1967 graduate and leave this world to go on to another. New students appear and the world continues to revolve, but WHS will remain in the hearts and minds of her alumni and students as a world of people, a world of learning, a world of spirit, and a world of activities.

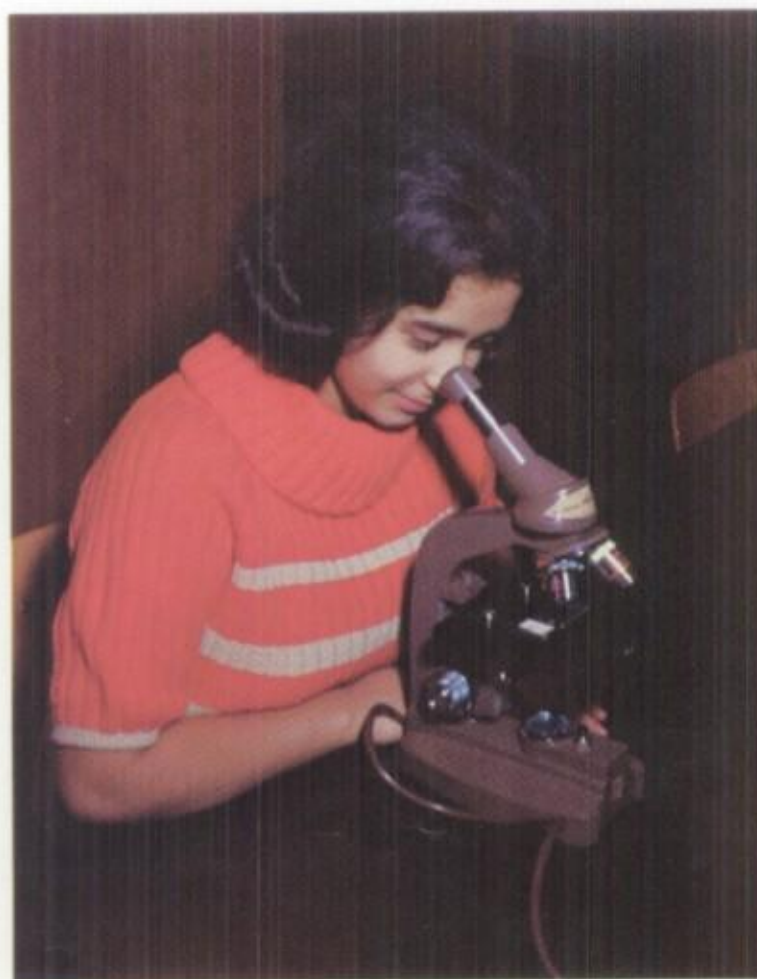

a world of people

a world of activities

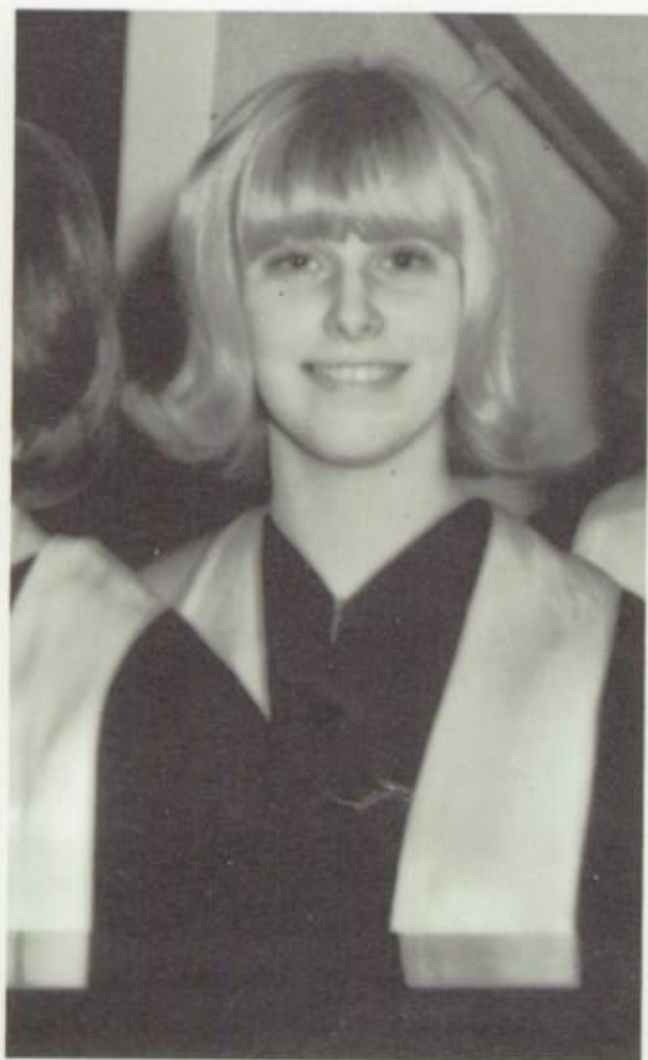

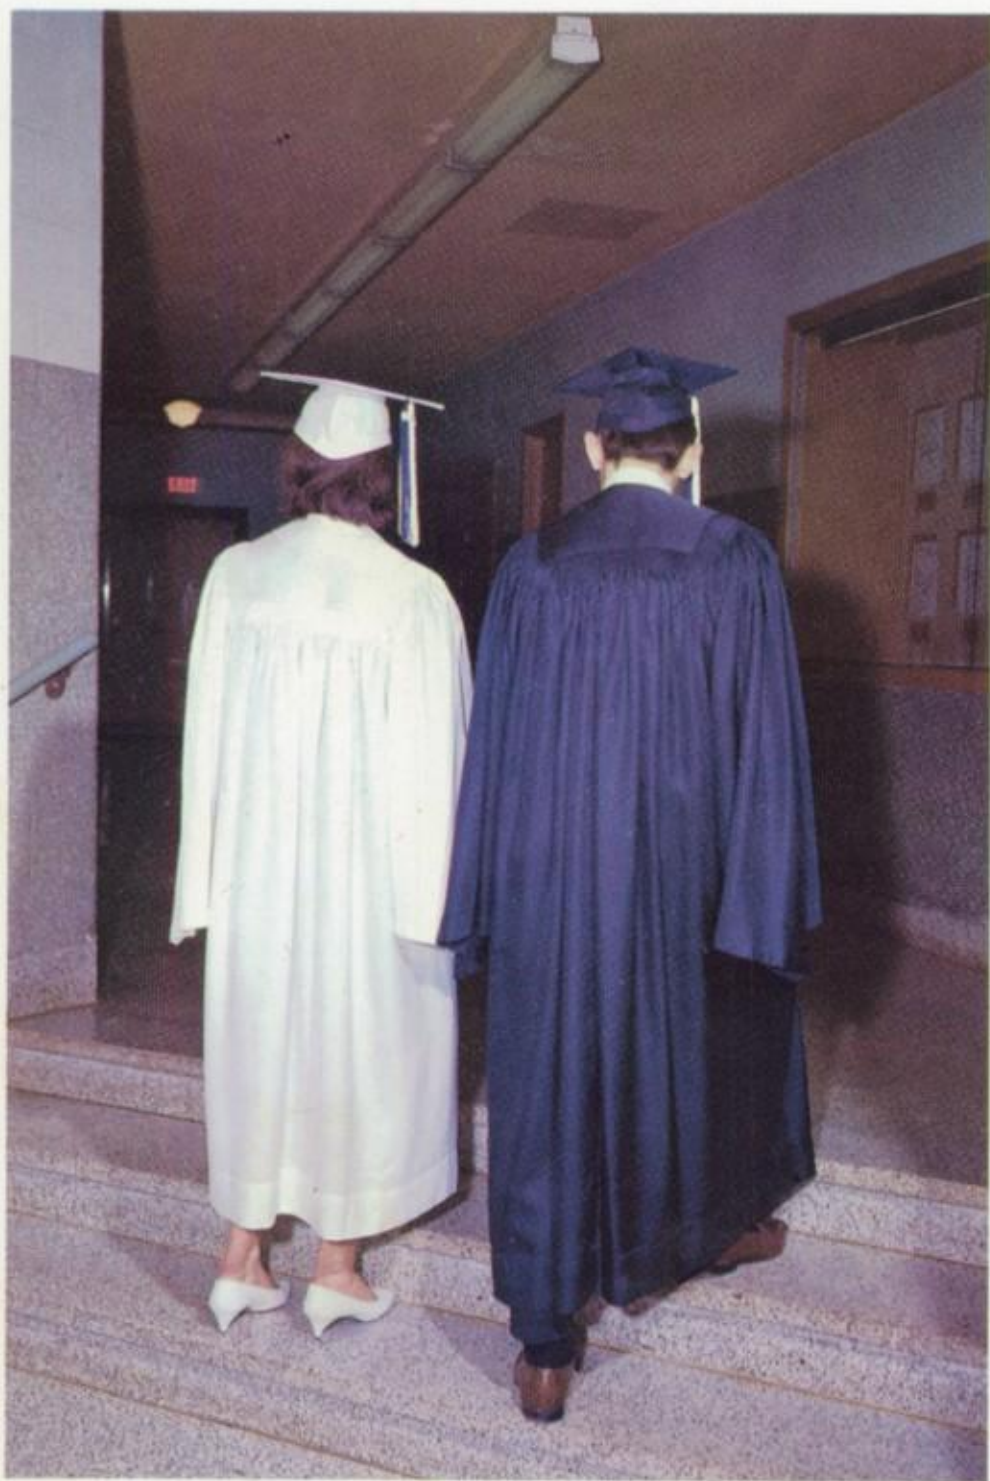

Let thy love play upon my voice and rest on my silence,
Let it pass through my heart into all my movements,
Let thy love like stars shine in the darkness of my sleep and dawn in my awakening,
Let it burn in the flame of my desires
And flow in all currents of my own love.
Let me carry thy love in my life as a harp does its music, and give it back to thee at last with my life.

WHS offers students a wide variety of activities. Organized clubs, musical groups, plays, and dances are all part of this world. Rob Hoskin marches down the football field during a half time band show. Ray Fitzsimmons sings a solo at the Christmas Vespers program given by the choirs. Upperclassmen enjoy the informal dances after a basketball game. All activities are created to help students mature both mentally and socially at WHS.

Symphonic Choir 67 Voices Strong

The Symphonic Choir, under the direction of Mr. Robert Vernon, appeared for the first time before the public at the annual Christmas Concert. The Choir, wearing their new robes, won high acclaim from the students and the community for their arrangement of "The Creation". In the spring, a busy choir participated in district contest, in which a good rating was earned, traveled to Bucyrus to take part in the NOL Choir Festival, presented a joint concert with the band, and finished the year by providing music for Commencement. The choir also waged a successful candy sale that enabled them to buy new filing cabinets for the choir room.

A new group in the vocal department was the Melody Makers. This small group of mixed voices sang at assemblies and various organizations in the community. The girls in the Melody Makers also formed another group called the Melodettes.

MR. VERNON, DIRECTOR

The Girls' Glee Club, also under the direction of Mr. Robert Vernon, enjoyed a very successful year. The Glee Club topped the Symphonic Choir in the sale of candy, enabling the choirs to purchase filing cabinets for the choir room. They provided entertainment at the Christmas Concert, the Spring Concert, Baccalaureate, and various assemblies throughout the year.

Drum Major and Majorettes Lead Band

Mr. Zweidinger Directs WHS Band

WHS's band appeared in many forms under the direction of Mr. Paul Zweidinger during the 1966-67 school year. In the fall band members performed every Friday night. They marched entertaining football shows including, "The Sound of Music," "Oklahoma," and "Lines, Patterns, and Motions," Hooded parkas became a warm addition to the band's marching uniform. The band also participated in local parades and the county fair. In October band members traveled to the University of Michigan to learn from the band's performance and see an exciting football game.

By winter the band was inside practicing and busily preparing for their annual mid-winter concert. In the spring WHS's band was represented by six members at the District II Music Festival. At solo and ensemble contest participants received the following ratings: flute quartet, I; clarinet quartets, I's; clarinet trio, II; woodwind quintet, I; percussion ensemble, III; brass choir, III. The entire symphonic band earned a rating of excellent at the District Band and Chorus Contest.

In March the band held a recording session and produced their first record. A combined band and chorus concert was a success in May. Two bands from the NOL joined the WHS band in a band festival. The highlights of the evening were the numbers performed by all of the bands combined into a mass band. As a final event the marching band participated in the opening of Cedar Point.

Band members enjoyed a successful and productive year filled with fun and learning.

GAA Provides Sports for Girls

The GAA sets high standards for girls who like sports activity. The main purpose of the club is teaching co-ordination, poise, teamwork and development of skills in volleyball and basketball. Traveling teams, playing both these sports, took on Norwalk and Shelby. Socially, the Girls Athletic Association, held many dances throughout the year, the highlight being "Christmas in a Pub".

The WHS created the spirit that was necessary for a successful basketball season. Eighty-six enthusiastic girls cheered the Flashes at home as well as at all NOL away games and tournament games. The club provided entertainment at half time and pep rallies. The high ideals of good sportsmanship are learned and taught to others by the club, but the main purpose of this organization is to back the Crimson Flashes.

Batman and Robin appear at the Christmas assembly to save Christmas for Willard.

Student government functioned ably in 1967 under the leadership of council president Bob Taylor. With the beginning of a new year and the social activities that went with it, the Student Council organized the pre-game Homecoming ceremonies and decorated the field for the occasion. With Thanksgiving and Christmas came special holiday assemblies. Batman and Robin suddenly put in an appearance as the representatives presented a Christmas skit. With an interest in world affairs the group brought in a speaker who had migrated from the Soviet Union after the Bolshevik revolution. As in the past, the council served the school by supplying pen, pencil and paper machines. With springtime rapidly approaching, the council made arrangements for and also brought to the school a program from Columbia Gas and planned an Easter assembly. New officers and representatives were elected to close the 1967 school year for the Student Council of WHS.

Proud parents and smiling faces were seen at the annual ceremonies of the National Honor Society. Membership is the highest honor that can come to a high school student and in the spring, membership was bestowed on two seniors and eight juniors. Although membership is based mainly on scholastic records, service, character and leadership are also considered by the faculty before a student is selected.

Agricultural Experience Gained Through FFA

The Future Farmers of America took an active part in WHS and community affairs. The objective of the club is to direct boys interested in farming. Members are required to provide feeding areas, plant trees, and engage in rodent and pest control programs. The club earns money by running the apple machine and the concession stands at both football and basketball games. The main social event of the year is the annual Parent-Son Banquet held in the spring.

Jane Kipp puts finishing touches on her suit.

The Future Homemakers of America proved to be an energetic group. During the year the club exhibited projects at the county fair, attended sub-regional and county initiation, held an International and Christmas party, sponsored a delegation to the State FHA Convention, served at various banquets and held their own Mother-Daughter Banquet.

In the World of WHS the Willard chapter of the Future Teachers of America helped its members learn about the various fields of teaching through the talks of speakers.

FTA members served as runners at the school Science Fair and as ushers at the school open house. Highlighting the upper classmen's year was the opportunity to gain practical experience by substitute teaching. A book rack of paper back books was the source of income. By participating in these functions, members accumulated points to earn their pins.

For those interested in the fields of science, WHS offers the Future Scientists of America. Under the leadership of Ron Prater, the club invited many speakers to present the programs at their meeting. A day at Batelle Institute in Columbus and fossil hunting in Sylvania were the club's field trips during the year.

The future scientists helped plan the annual school Science Fair.

Staff Edits Crimson and White

WHS's newspaper, CRIMSON AND WHITE, is published once a month. The paper is assembled by a staff of editors, an artist, a photographer, proofreaders, and a business manager, all who work diligently after school hours. The journalism classes also help by writing articles and providing ideas. Through news columns and reports, the CRIMSON AND WHITE offers information to the student body. A new feature of the paper was an insert "The Brighter Side" which provided many laughs for faculty and students.

Annual Staff Assembles 1967 "Chief"

Margaret Drury, Faculty Editor, dictates to typists Linda Pelchar and Karen Puckett.

Deadlines found the "Chief" staff with pictures untaken, copy unwritten and time running out. Under the leadership and hard work of Editor-in-Chief Becky Brown, new ideas came to the WHS annual. The staff strove to provide the student body with a yearbook of better quality by adding more color and more pages. The annual staff moved into a private office and also edited "The Junior Chief" which gave the Junior High School their first separate annual. Although much hard work goes into the "Chief", the staff finds great enjoyment in assembling this book of memories with the hopes that it will be cherished by all for many years in the future.

Unique Family Produces Laughter

In the world of drama, Willard enacted Moss Hart and George S. Kauffman's comedy "You Can't Take It With You." The story revolved around a unique family, headed by "Grandpa" Martin Vanderhof (Denny Patterson). His daughter Penelope (Mary Helman) was a very ardent playwright, although none of her works had ever been published.

Penelope's husband, Paul Sycamore (Tim Funk), was a fireworks enthusiast. There were two Sycamore children, Essie and Alice.

Essie (Jackie Bauerle) had been studying ballet for several years but, as her teacher Boris Kolenkhov (Mike Kanable) said, "Confidentially, she stinks!" Essie's husband Ed (Dick Crall) accompanied her dancing on his xylophone.

Alice (Sue Link) appeared to be the only sane member of the household. A bright, attractive young woman, she was a secretary at Anthony J. Kirby and Son.

Even the Sycamore's maid and her boyfriend seemed eccentric. Donald (Mike Elmlinger) and Rheba (Debbie Silcox) were almost a part of the family, as was Mr. Depinna (Tom Borchelt), Paul's cohort in the field of fireworks.

The plot centered around the conflict that arose when Alice fell in love with Tony Kirby (Dave Van Laar). Mr. and Mrs. Kirby (Paul Kale and Margaret Drury) were a status-seeking pair straight from Wall Street. When they met the Sycamores, fireworks began!

Grandpa had neglected his income tax and was visited by Wilber Henderson (Roger Richards) of the Internal Revenue Department. Unable to make Grandpa comprehend, he left but later returned with two men (Keith Squires and Bob Harlan) to deal with the family more sternly.

When the men arrived they found not only the Kirbys and the entire Vanderhof household but also Gay Wellington (Jeanelle Varghn), an actress of rather questionable character. The men were suspicious of the gunpowder in the basement, although Paul tried to explain about his fireworks.

The third act shows a very subdued family. Alice, realizing that the two families will never be able to get along, breaks her engagement to Tony and intends to leave for a short vacation. In a long discussion with Mr. Kirby, Grandpa brings out the theme of the play, "You Can't Take It With You."

Mr. Kirby, is finally convinced, especially after he learns that the family have among their acquaintances the Grand Duchess Olga Katrina (Terri Moore), a cousin of the late czar. Alice and Tony are reconciled as the curtain closed a warm and successful performance.

Tony: "All that matters now is that we love each other."

Penelope: "Kenneth, my virginity is a priceless thing to me."

Mr. Depinna: "Look, Mr. Sycamore! I'm afraid the powder chamber is just a little close to the balloon."

Boris Kolenkhov: "Mr. Kirby, you could be a great wrestler. You are built for it!"

"Sound of Music" Presented by Students

The VonTrapp family performs at the Salzburg Music Festival.

Rodgers and Hammerstein's SOUND OF MUSIC was the choice for this year's musical. Two innovations this year were the use of double casts who gave four performances rather than two. The WHS success was well-received by students and adults alike.

Jackie Bauerle and Debbie Jump shared honors as Maria, a postulant in an Austrian Abbey. As the curtain opens, the audience learns from the Mother Abbess (Mary Helman and Elaine VanLoo) and Sisters Bertha, Margaretta and Sophie (Debbie Harter, Debbie Jump, Suzanne Robinson and Patti Jones, Connie Jump and Carolyn Harter) that Maria is not ready for the religious life. They decide to send Maria to serve as a governess for the seven children of Captain VonTrapp (David Buss and Rob Hoskin). The captain is a retired naval officer who, after the death of his wife, has run his home like a ship. Maria and her music change the "marching machines" into normal, happy children. Besides coping with six mischievous children, Maria finds that Liesl, the oldest daughter (Elaine VanLoo and Jackie Bauerle), is in the throes of first love with the messenger boy Rolf Gruber (Dave VanLaar and Ric Shellhammer).

Captain VonTrapp is engaged to marry Elsa Schraeder (Jeanette Vaughn and Mary Helman) but they both realize that he is in love with Maria so Elsa breaks the engagement.

When Maria and the Captain return from their honeymoon, they find that the Nazis have overrun Austria. During their absence, Max, a good friend (Ric Shellhammer and Ron Prater), has arranged for the children to sing at the Salzburg Music Festival. The Captain is against the idea of his children performing in public, but the arrangement proves to be fortunate indeed.

The Third Reich has ordered the Captain to report to one of their naval bases at once. Loyal to Austria, however, the VonTrapps escape directly after their performance in the Festival and take refuge in the Abbey. As the curtain closes, the family is seen starting their trek into the mountains to Switzerland while the Mother Abbess and the other nuns bid them "Climb every mountain . . . 'til you find your dream".

Maria receives the blessing of the Mother Abbess.

Max asks Elsa and the Captain, "How can love survive?"

Rolf promises to take care of Liesel who is "Sixteen Going on Seventeen."

Homecoming 1966 was the highlight of the football season at WHS. Queen Susan Strauss and her court reigned over festivities on October 14, 1966 at the Willard-Norwalk football game. The Student Council made arrangements for the pregame crowning ceremonies and the junior class sponsored the dance following the game. Homecoming 1966 proved to be a wonderful evening that will never be forgotten by both students and alumni.

Couples enjoy dancing in the enchanting atmosphere of "Blue Hawaii".

An erupting volcano greeted juniors, seniors, the faculty, and their guests as they spent a night in "Blue Hawaii", the theme chosen by the juniors for their prom. Everyone anxiously awaited the hour when crowning festivities would begin and the 1967 Prom Queen and her court would be announced. After the prom a show, bowling, and a breakfast provided much enjoyed entertainment and a perfect ending to an enchanting evening.

Top Ten Per Cent Receive Awards

Mr. Harlow Staph of the Willard Chamber of Commerce gives awards to top seniors.

Becky Neuhfer and Tim Prederi are given State Board of Education Awards.

The annual awards day assembly found WHS students excited and anxious as they waited to find out who the recipients of the many awards were. The Chamber of Commerce Awards were given to seniors in the top ten per cent of the class. Becky Brown, Connie DeVeney, Margaret Drury, Peggy Eckstein, Barbara Fast, Jean Forster, Ronda Fritz, Carolyn Harter, Mary Helman, Jane Hill, Rob Hoskin, Debbie Jump, Linda Leonard, Michael Meyer, and Susan Strauss received the awards. Competition was so keen for top honors that grades were based on eight semesters instead of the usual seven. At commencement exercises on June 9, Rob Hoskin was named valedictorian and Jean Forster, salutatorian of the class of 1967. A new award at WHS was the State Board of Education Award which recognized completion of a basic course of study in scholastic major subjects. This award went to Becky Neuhfer and Tim Prederi.

Rob Hoskin Earns Paul Hargrove Award

Mr. Wiebe presents Rob Hoskin with the Paul Hargrove Mathematics Award.

Jean Forster receives a certificate from Mrs. Starbuck for placing as a National Scholar finalist.

Rob Hoskin and Mary Helman are the happy recipients of the American Legion and the "I Dare You" Awards.

Mrs. Richard Beebe of the Music Study Club awards Becky Brown with the John Philip Sousa Award.

Mr. Bowling inducts CHIEF staff members Sue Dabbert, Connie Jump and Becky Brown into the Quill and Scroll.

Mary Helman receives DAR Award.

Diane Slessman earns the Ohio Academy of Science Certificate.

Students Earn Awards in Many Fields

Mrs. Hollinger awards loyal CRIMSON AND WHITE staff.

The Business and Professional Women's Club Bond Award was presented by Miss Rheba Bennett to Alice Henry.

Awards were presented to the outstanding students in many different fields. Home economics, future homemaker, pep club, GAA, choir, Band, commercial, librarian, cheerleader, majorette and scholarship test certificates were just a few of the many awards presented at the assembly.

Bill Thompson earns the title of most valuable golfer.

Diamond men Jim Mask and Gary Fink receive trophies for best batting average and best defensive player respectively.

Sports Awards Recognize Outstanding Athletes

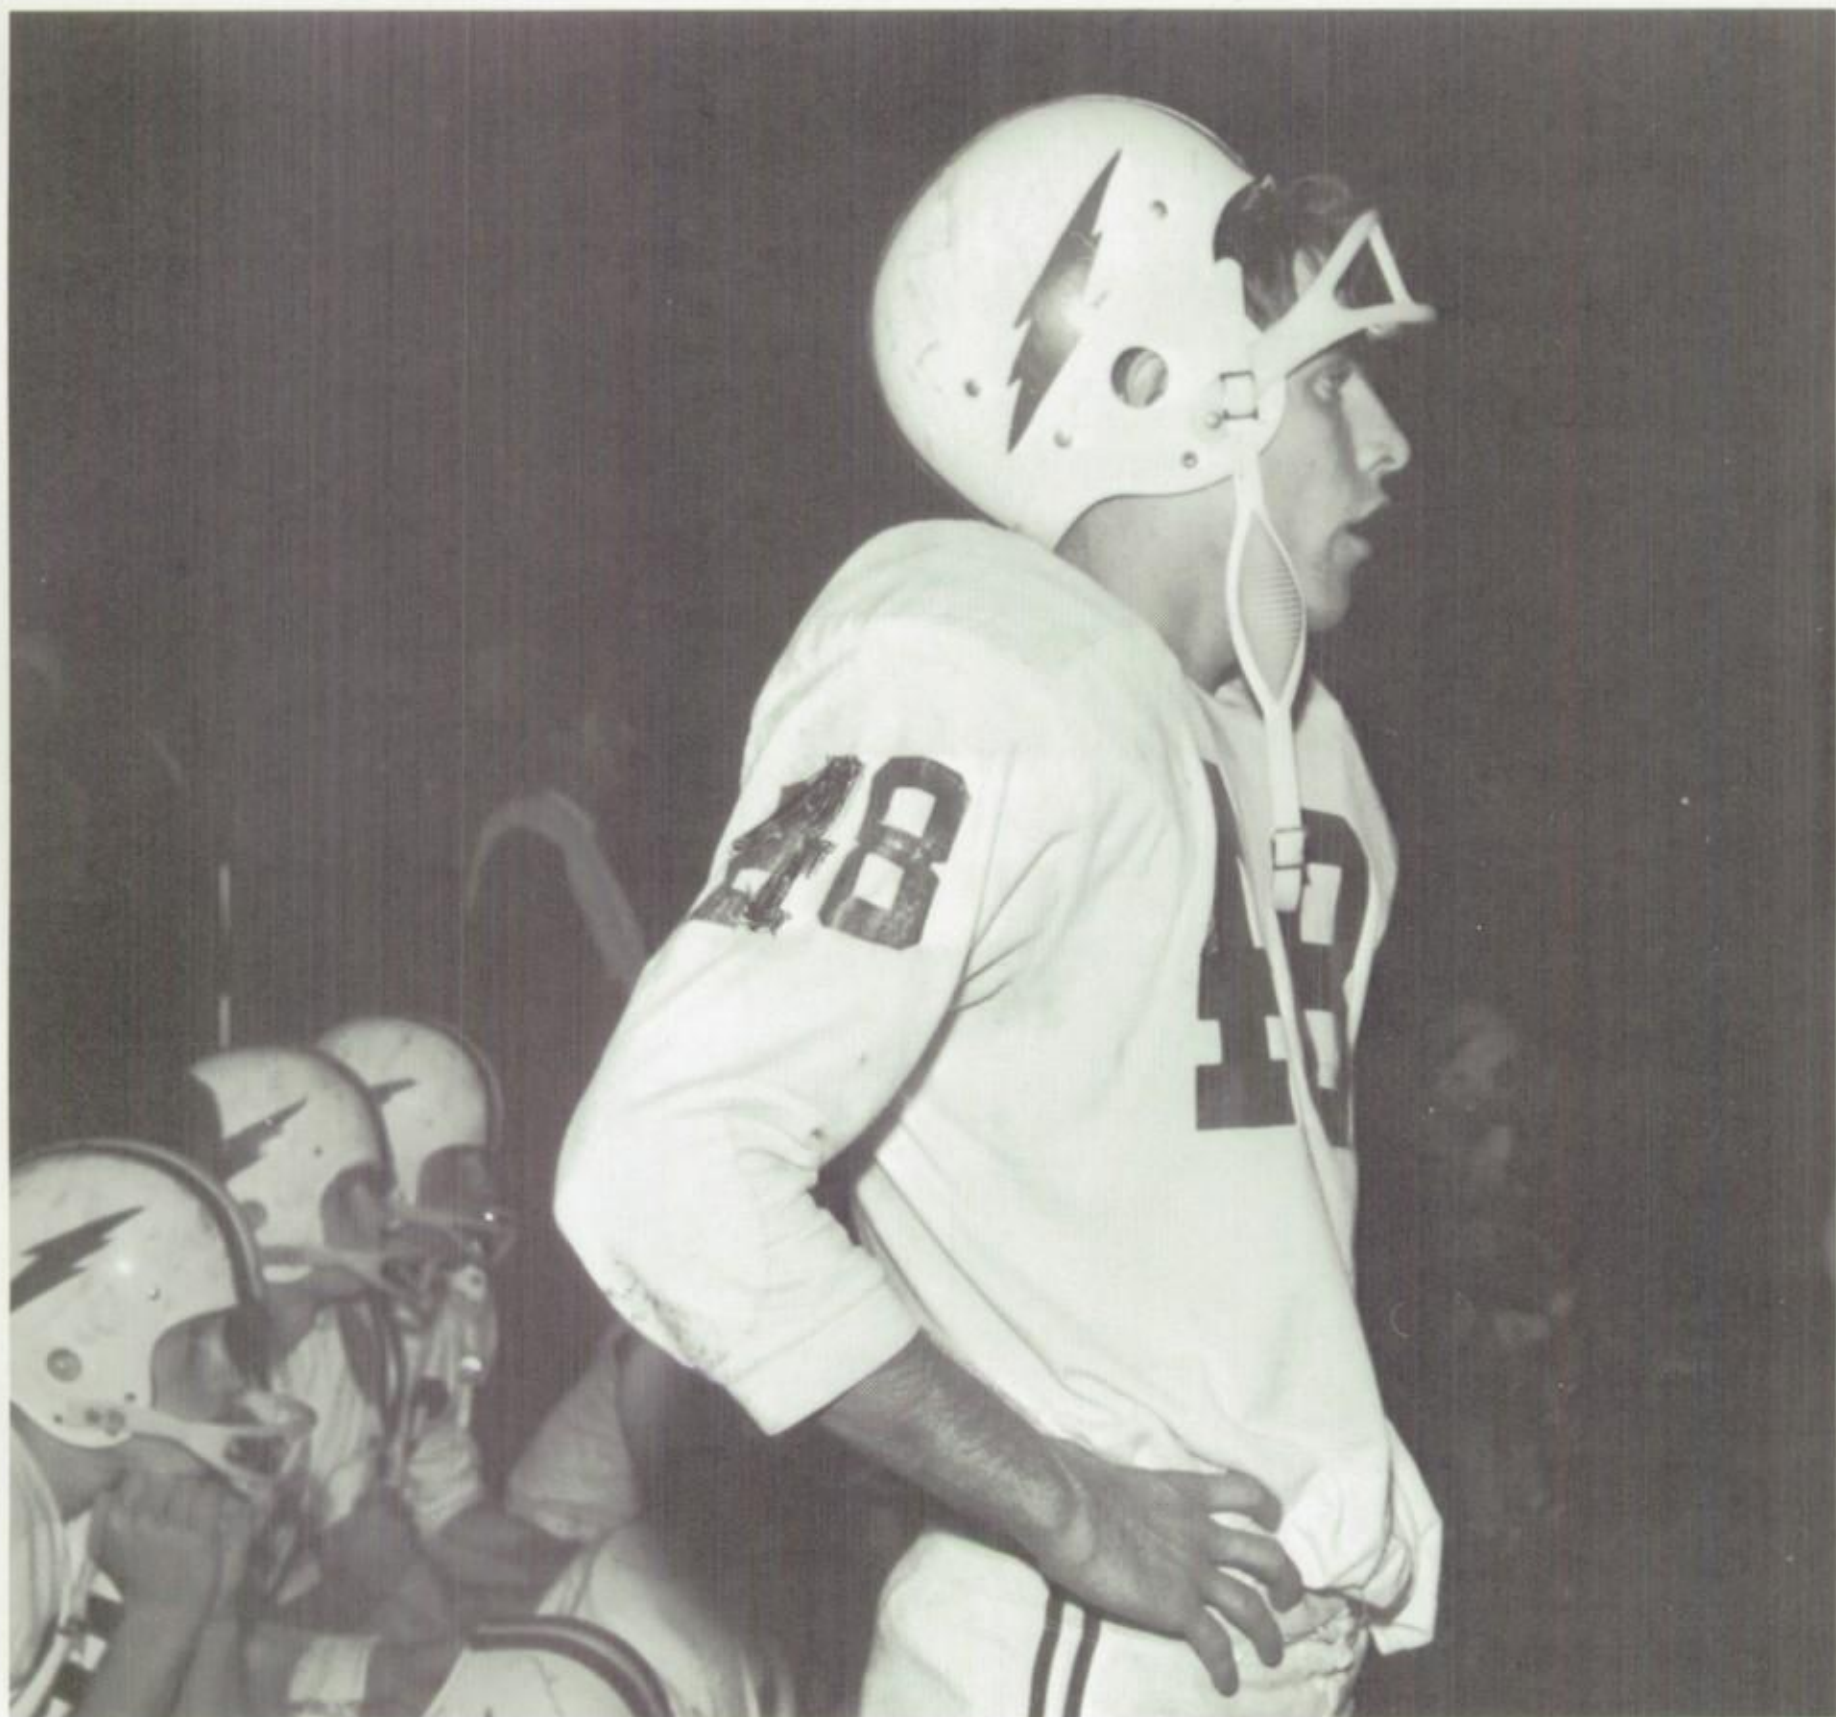

Coach Walter Cook presents awards to cagers Bob Holmes for best defensive player and Jim Mask for best foul shooter and best rebounder.

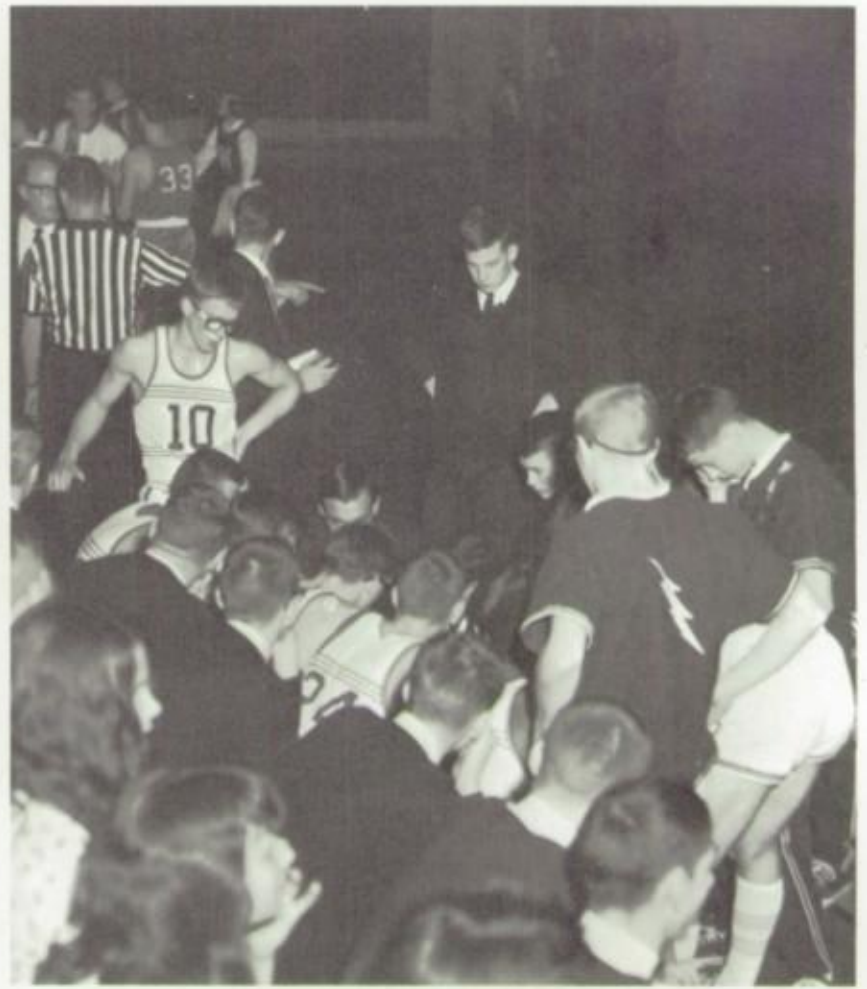

On awards day special recognition and trophies were received by outstanding WHS athletes. Special basketball and baseball awards were given and letters in the spring sports. Basketball and football letters were given earlier in the year.

Football awards are received by Rich Playko for best offensive player, Tim Prederi for best defensive player and Jim Mask for most valuable player.

The Willard Athletic Program of 1966-1967 has been depressing sometimes and other times exciting for the coaches, players, and spectators. Garry Barnett watches eagerly as his teammates make an important play. Don Leininger makes a final effort in the last feet of the 100-yard dash. Mr. Cook outlines plans for the final quarter. The aim of WHS sports for this year and for the years to come is for the young men of Willard High to place the name of Willard on the map by gaining recognition on the athletic field and also in the classroom.

Willard's Crimson Flashes came through with another winning season in NOL play. The gridgers started out slow by losing the opener to Brunswick, 8-18, but came back to crumble River View, 28-6.

Willard then sustained a demoralizing defeat at the hands of Shelby in the league opener, 6-48. Then the Crimson Flashes showed what they were made of and, as Coach Mentis would say, "They sucked up their guts!"

Our gridgers invaded Bucyrus and blanked them, 14-0. Next came the Tiffin team whom the Flashes Clipped, 12-6. On Homecoming the team dumped Norwalk in a bone-breaking battle, 6-0. Willard was clawed by the Galion Tigers, 20-12. The Bellevue Redmen stopped the Flashes 24-6 in a hard-hitting NOL tilt and winless Upper Sandusky fell to the gridgers, 8-0, in what seemed to be a mud bath rather than a football game.

We should give credit to the coaches who brought the Crimson Flashes out of the loser's column and put them in the winner's column for the past two years.

Tim Predieri--All-NOL Middle Guard; All-District Middle Guard; All-Ohio Middle Guard; Honorable Mention All-American.

Outstanding Gridgers Recognized

Dale Adams--All-NOL Tackle; Honorable Mention Linebacker; (Honorable Mention) All-District Tackle.

Frosh Look Forward to Reserve Play

Learning is the main goal of the Freshman Football team. Winning only two of their six games, the Junior Flashes put in many hours on the gridiron during games and practices. Basic fundamentals were taught by faithful coaches, Mr. Van Poppel, and Mr. Gaich, with the hopes that they would be retained and used by these young gridders as they begin their careers at WHS with the Crimson Flashes.

It was the decision of the Varsity "W" Club to purchase new varsity coats this year. After several discussion meetings the club decided to change the color of the coats from the traditional red to crimson and white, the school colors.

Willard's coaching staff then decided to buy letters to be worn proudly on the coats. Under the new system, an athlete must first earn enough credit to receive his letter. In the years to follow he will receive a bar regardless of the type of sport in which he participates. The use of this system will enable everyone to proudly display their achievements in all sports.

Willard's Crimson Flashes began their season of "On-the-Ball" basketball by taking Galion, in the first NOL game of the year, 75-55, and our neighbors, the Attica Eagles, 55-56, the following night in a capacity filled gym.

The swift running squad met their first defeat in the fourth game of a fast and notable season.

After hours of hard drilling through the weeks, victories were in store when it came game time, but they were always hard earned. In spite of their losses the Flashes never gave up until the buzzer sounded.

The stalwart group could not have been as successful had it not been supported by all of the loyal boys who made up the team as well as our ever-patient managers, and our understanding and aggressive coaches.

Congratulations go to Junior, Jay Langhurst and Senior, Jim Mask who were selected to the First and Second All-NOL teams, respectively.

Cindermen Practice Hard

Willard Cindermen showed definite improvement this year. The team finished with an honorable fourth place in the NOL MEET, scoring 21 1/2 points.

Chuck Barrison set a new 100 yard dash record with a time of 10.1 seconds. This proved to be the best in the league. The two mile record was shattered by Tim King with an excellent time of 10 minutes 27.6 seconds. Tim also placed second at the NOL Meet.

The mile relay team, consisting of Gary Kuhn, Don Leininger, Bob Taylor, and Chuck Barrison reduced the record by 5.1 seconds. The new record, 3 minutes 37.9 seconds, placed third at the league meet.

During the 1967 spring season the Crimson Flashes Varsity Baseball squad did a fine job and forecasts a favorable future.

Leading players were Gary Fink and Jack Veletean. Jim Mask led the mound staff. Refinement of baseball's many skills and game spirit were the goals of this year's squad.

Dave Buss practices batting techniques.

Willard's Reserve Baseball Team, under the able leadership of Coach Larry Cook, spent many long hours of training to better themselves. Although relatively few games were scheduled, the Reserve Nine, consisting of freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, showed much potential for varsity action.

Top Athlete Wins Honors

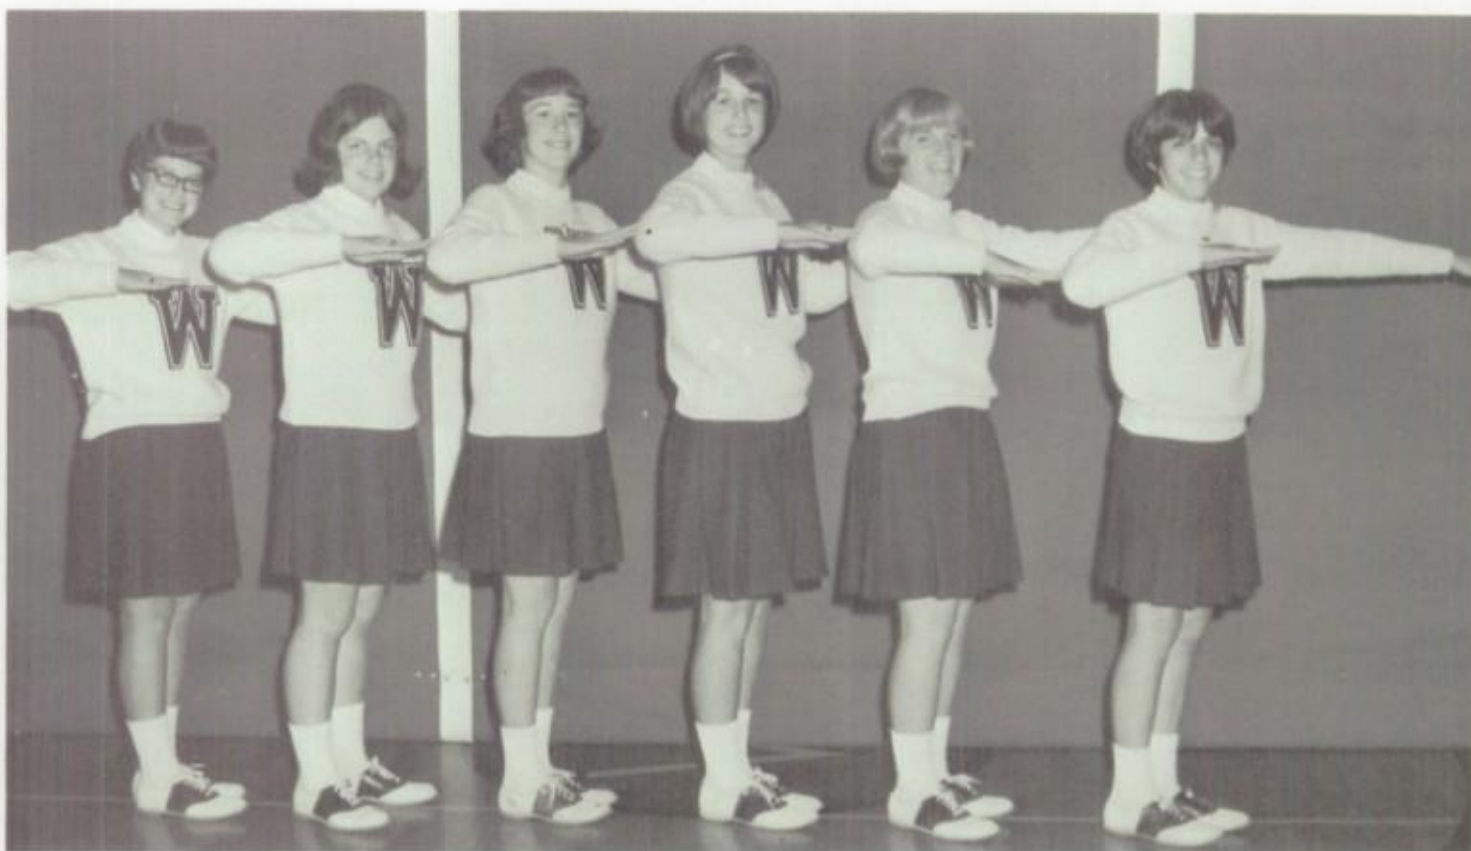

Tim Prederi was named the recipient of the Harlow Staph Award at the annual awards assembly on June 2, 1967. Established in 1951, the award was presented by Mr. Harlow Staph and is Willard High School's highest athletic award requiring the recipient to have two letters in at least two major sports as well as a high scholastic average.

Tim was a three year letterman in football and track. Besides being an outstanding lineman for the Flashes, Tim was named ALL-NOL middle guard, All-Ohio middle guard, and honorable mention All-American.

WHS cheerleaders exhibited spirit and enthusiasm for Flashes's teams. Freshmen, reserve and varsity cheerleaders led fans in cheers at football and basketball games. These girls decorated the halls with signs, created skits and planned pep rallies. They took individual student spirit and coordinated it into a grand support of the Flashes.

VARSITY: Judy Wiles, Kathy Fogt, Sue Link, Mary Helman, head, Debbie Jump, and Susan Strauss.

Under the guidance and leadership of WHS's faculty, students learned and matured academically. Outside the classrooms, teachers became coaches, play directors, advisers, and friends. Mr. L. Cook, with the phone in his hand, watches with interest the tackle that just happened. Mr. Vessels enters the building carrying his brief case full of plans for the Penny Carnival. Mr. Zweidinger shows his skill on the basketball court in the faculty game against the Harlem Satellites. The World of WHS was made a better high school because of the interest of the faculty for the students.

FACULTY

Board of Education Directs School

SUPERINTENDENT--M. E. Acocks.

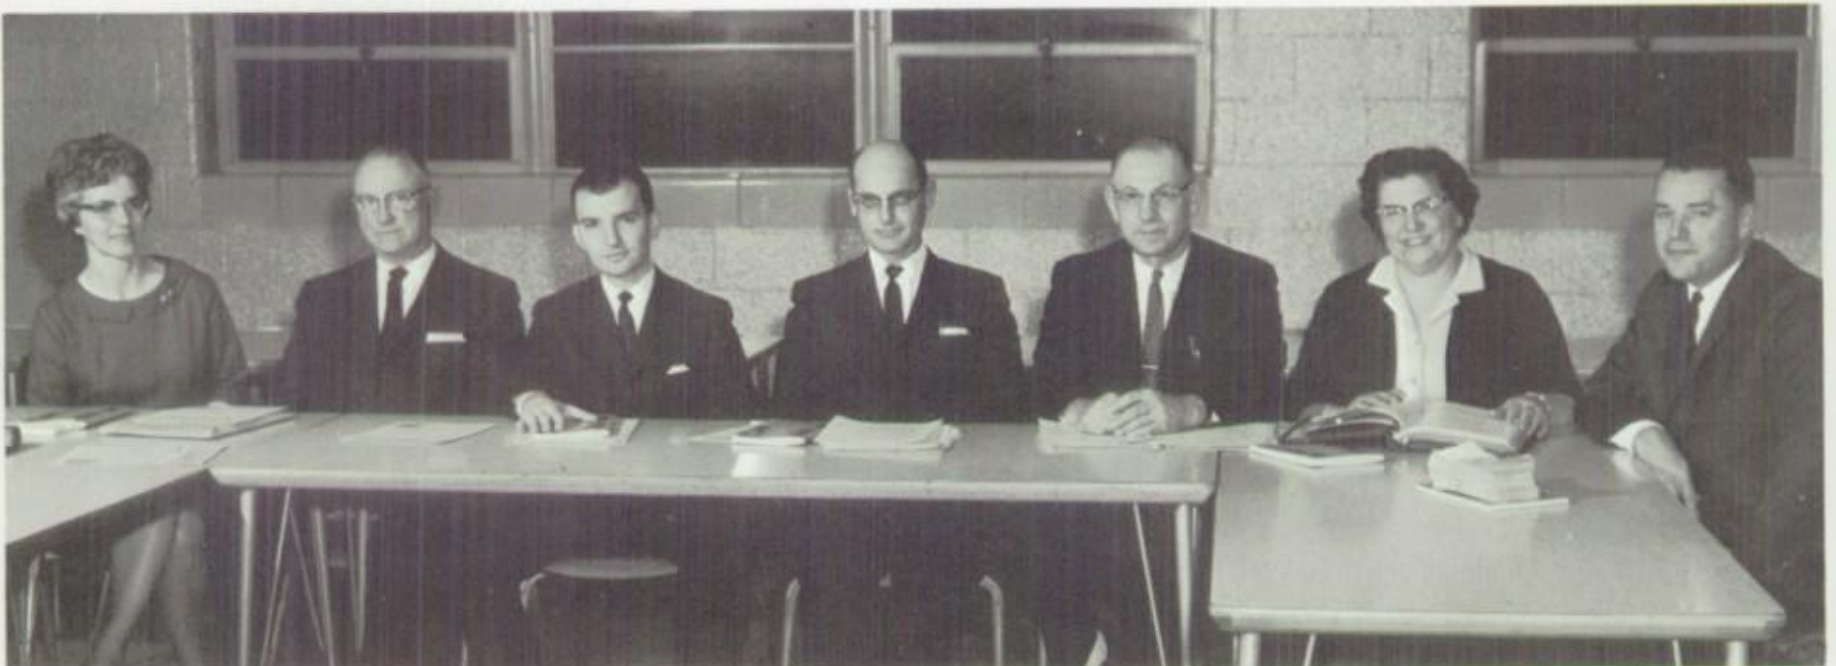

ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT--
Richard Pinkley

Superintendent M. E. Acocks was responsible for the Willard City School system. He had many duties assigned to him by the Board of Education, but not all of them pertain to the high school. Duties that directly affected WHS students were initiating and recommending policies for approval by the Board, recommending all employees for appointment and dismissal, assigning all instructional and non-instructional personnel, submitting to the Board a course of study, recommending textbook adoptions, assigning pupils, and carrying out many other responsibilities. Mr. Acocks had the rewarding experience of seeing a school system grow and prosper under his direction.

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Virginia Lydy, Donald Alford, John Rosso, Richard Jackson, Emerson Neuman, Helen Ellis, clerk, M. E. Acocks.

Mr. Wartianen Supervises WHS

PRINCIPAL--L. P. Wartianen.

Mr. Wartianen's primary duty was the supervising of the operation of Willard High School. As, principal, he supervised class room instruction. His responsibilities included the requesting of school materials, the keeping of records and accounts, and the filing of state and Board of Education reports. Mr. Wartianen was also in charge of assigning teachers to their duties and supervising the work of the custodians. He maintained an educational atmosphere in the World of WHS.

Mr. Wartianen works hard on annual reports.

Guidance counseling at WHS included a wide variety of duties. Mrs. Starbuck and Mr. Miller assisted students in the selection of high school courses and also in the selection of vocations and colleges or other training schools. They planned, administered and evaluated the testing programs for the school and individual students; and one of the counselors' most important jobs was to assist students in solving their personal problems.

Language Department Offers Variety

"Bonjour classe." Ambitious French students at Willard High could extend their French studies to three and four years. Mrs. Freshly taught her pupils not only to speak, write, and understand French, but also to think French.

Fears of public speaking were readily overcome in Mr. Bebee's Speech I and II classes. Students studied and discussed debates, dramatic declamations, personality interviews, commercials, and the history of drama.

English students combined grammar with literature. The Senior English Literature classes used Dicken's TALE OF TWO CITIES and Goldsmith's THE VICAR OF WAKEFIELD as basis for comprehensive discussions.

Learning different verb conjugations occupies much time in Latin and Spanish classes. The Spanish department frequently used Spanish recordings to aid in pronunciation.

With enthusiasm, journalistic people edited the "Crimson and White" which is distributed once a month.

Students at Willard High were offered a variety of subjects in the language department.

In Speech class, Jackie Bauerle interviews Patti Jones --Rudolph the Red Nose Reindeer.

In this day and age with the atomic bomb and missiles, there is much emphasis on science and mathematics. Now and in the future there are and will be many opportunities offered in these fields.

Thus, Willard High School offered courses in biology, algebra, physics, geometry, chemistry, physical science, and general science. It is hopeful that these supplied students with a sufficient background in these fields.

Business Students Aim Toward COE Program

The commercial department offered such skills to students as: typing, business English and law, shorthand, and office practice. The students learned the many practices of the business world as well as information that is necessary for the every day business transactions in daily living. Here students were trained for future positions in business operations. All clerical skills, from those used by an accountant to the use of a clerical typist were obtained.

The commercial department began using a COE program. This Cooperative Office Education offered on-the-job training as well as classroom work.

Fine Arts Lead to Creativity

WHS Offers Courses in Practical Arts

What are practical arts? In WHS they included vocational agriculture, home economics, industrial arts, distributive education and occupational education. Practical arts were those arts which serve ordinary needs especially which involve handicraft.

Students taking vocational agriculture learned how to operate a farm. For example, they learned that different kinds of soils affect crops in separate ways.

Industrial arts included wood working, metal working, and mechanical drawing. Students made magazine racks, lamps, spice racks, and other items.

Working part of the time in local stores and going to school the rest of the day is the career of a student enrolled in distributive education.

The basic needs of home economics are learned by girls. Not only did they learn to sew, but also the anatomy of a sewing machine including the care. In addition, proper care of children and how to prepare a balanced meal were studied.

Occupational education helped students prepare themselves for future life in vocational and family living. They received actual job experience working in the community and helping in the school.

Along with working the muscles of the body, students learned about these muscles at the same time.

"One, two, three, four! Up and down. Up and down. Now we shall have a report on German measles". These were the two contrasts which were found between the physical education and health classes at Willard High School.

Students were able to develop the muscles of their bodies and become more physically fit while at the same time they learned about the workings of these muscles in the health classes.

Tumbling is a favorite activity of the boys.

Secretaries, Nurse, Cooks, Custodians Work at WHS

Mrs. Hauser fills the needs of ill students.

Mrs. Schryer looks through record for Mr. Acocks.

Mrs. Ayres and Mrs. Lohr work in Mr. Wartianinen's office.

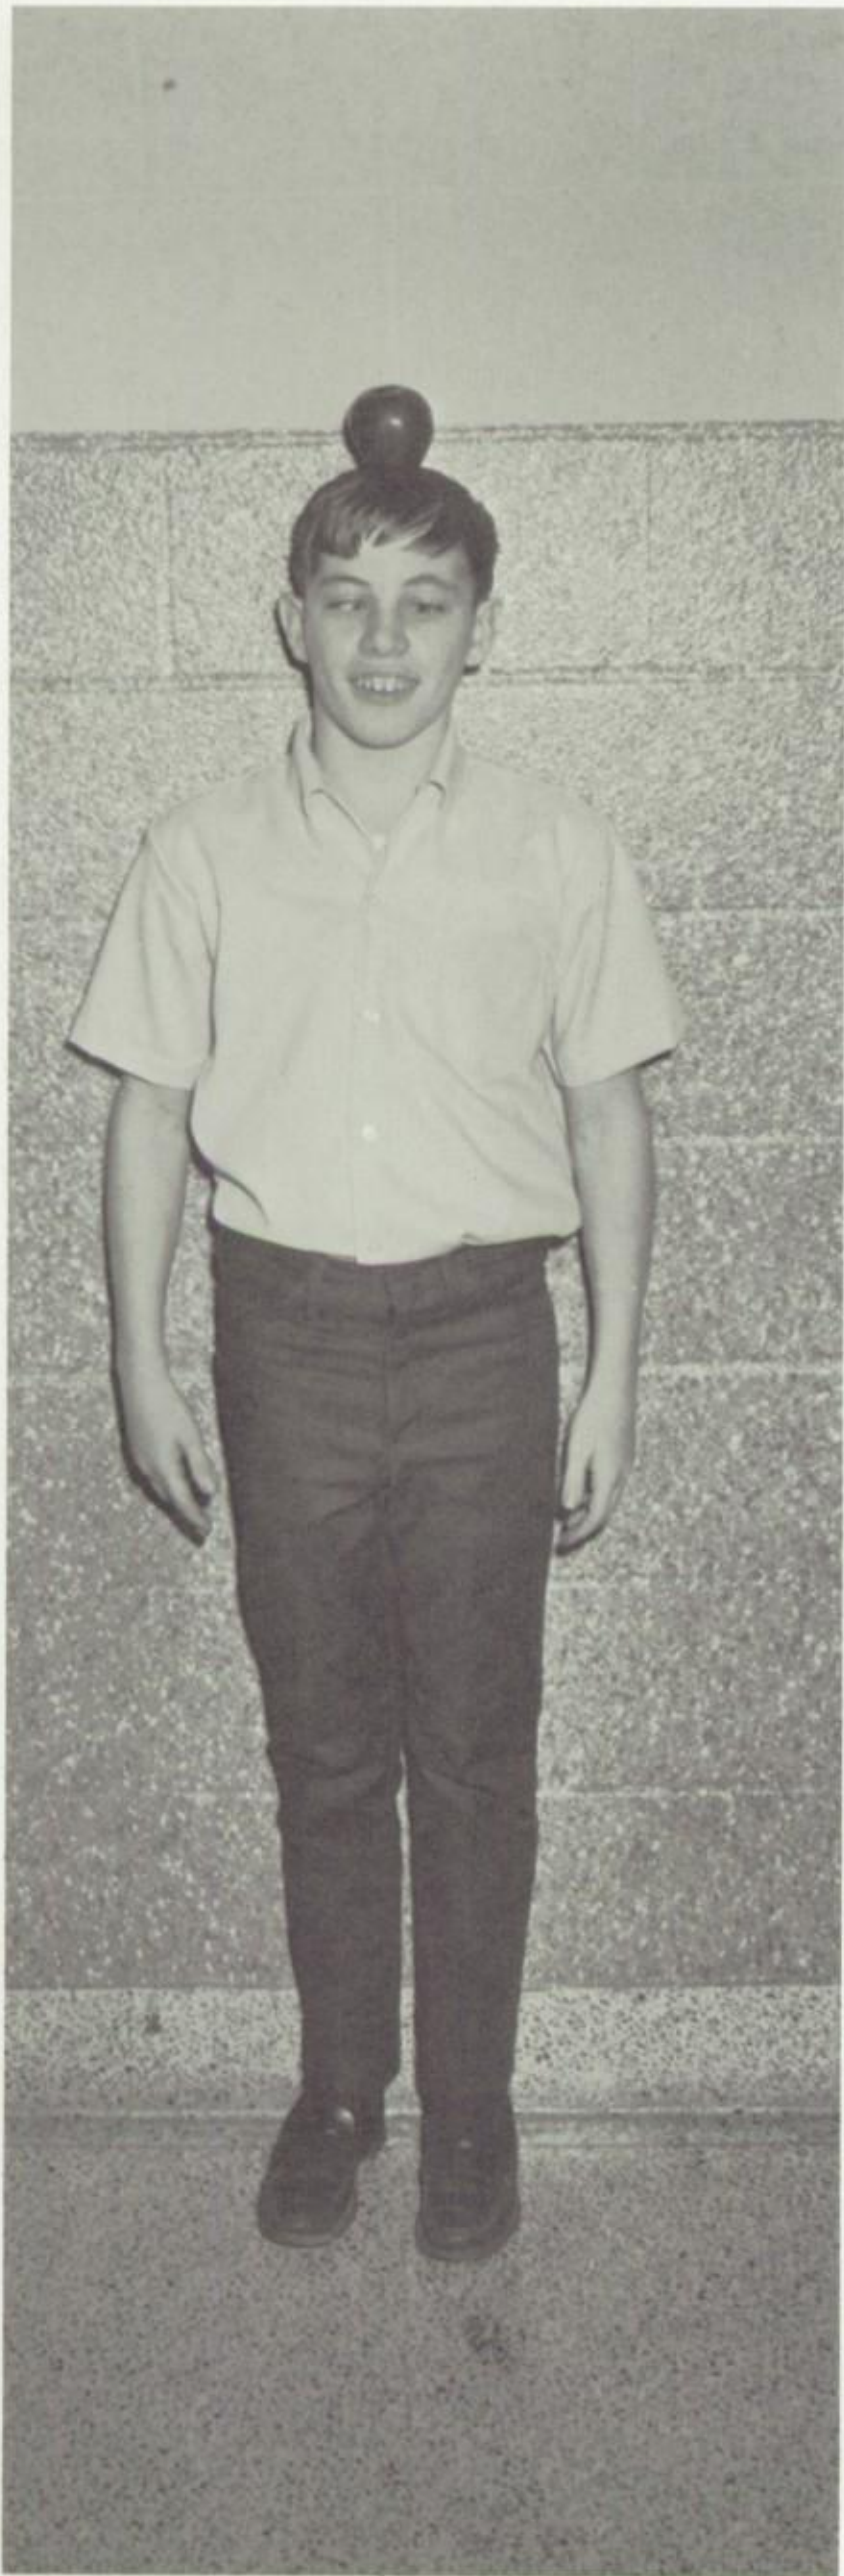

Mrs. Mull, Mrs. Gieser, Mrs. Conkle, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Long, Mrs. Predieri, and Mrs. Hershisier--Supervisor prepare lunches at WHS.

James Smith and Randy Jewell assist custodians Mr. Young and Mr. Miller. Mr. Godlove, Mr. Ellis, and Mr. Moore also work at WHS.

WHS was made of four distinct classes--the seniors, the juniors, the sophomores, and the freshmen; each working for their own betterment. And yet, WHS became a world which united in backing sports, presenting plays, taking part in band and choir, and learning together. Senior Vicki Mask enters the school on a warm, spring morning. Jeff Ashley typifies the freshmen as he displays the antics of underclassmen. A group of Junior boys find entertainment in the gym balcony during the science fair. Working and learning together helped classes earn respect and comradeship at Willard High School.

CLASSES

The past four years at WHS left the graduating class of 1967 with many happy memories.

The fall of 1966 opened with spirit and enthusiasm as the seniors cheered the Flashes onto many victories. The year had not progressed too far until trips to Norwalk for senior pictures and the selecting of name cards and announcements brought thoughts of graduation.

An exotic setting complete with cherry blossoms and a statue of Buddha transformed the gym into an Oriental garden for the Senior-Junior Prom.

With many memories of American Observers, pep rallies, and many friendships, the seniors left the World of WHS to go their separate ways.

Activity was the key word for the junior class. Besides breaking the record for the amount earned by previous classes on magazine sales, the class surpasses many other goals. Sports were a constant companion of many juniors, and the academic field was tackled, too. Tradition was broken when the juniors did away with the banquet at the Junior-Senior Prom, but the Hawaiian theme made the prom a great success. The year ended with the juniors looking forward to an active senior year.

Although Willard High School was not a new experience for the sophomore class, newness described the year for the "Class of 1969." The class will be remembered as the first to select round class rings. Class dues were collected for the first time in the sophomore year to help build the treasury. An after-the-game dance sponsored by the class not only brought profits, but also added a social-light to the year. The sophomore year was a year of maturing and becoming a greater part of WHS.

WHS's newest class entered the World of WHS in September. After nervous expressions on their faces had faded and confusion subsided, the freshmen became an active part of Willard High School. They soon could find their classrooms; they knew which stairs to go up, and come down; they became accustomed to their back seats for assemblies.

The freshman supported their own cheerleaders; the football and basketball teams; also took part in combined school activities.

Funds for the class treasury started to build from the dance after the Shelby football game and the profit from the concession stand.

In order to help prepare WHS students for the future, the first class of occupational education was begun in 1966-67. Mr. Windnagle taught the class academic subjects, and each student was responsible for some tasks, such as working in the cafeteria or mowing the school lawn. Students also held outside jobs; many of the girls helped at the hospital. All the activities were aimed at preparing the students for the world ahead.

Occupational Education Prepares Students for Future

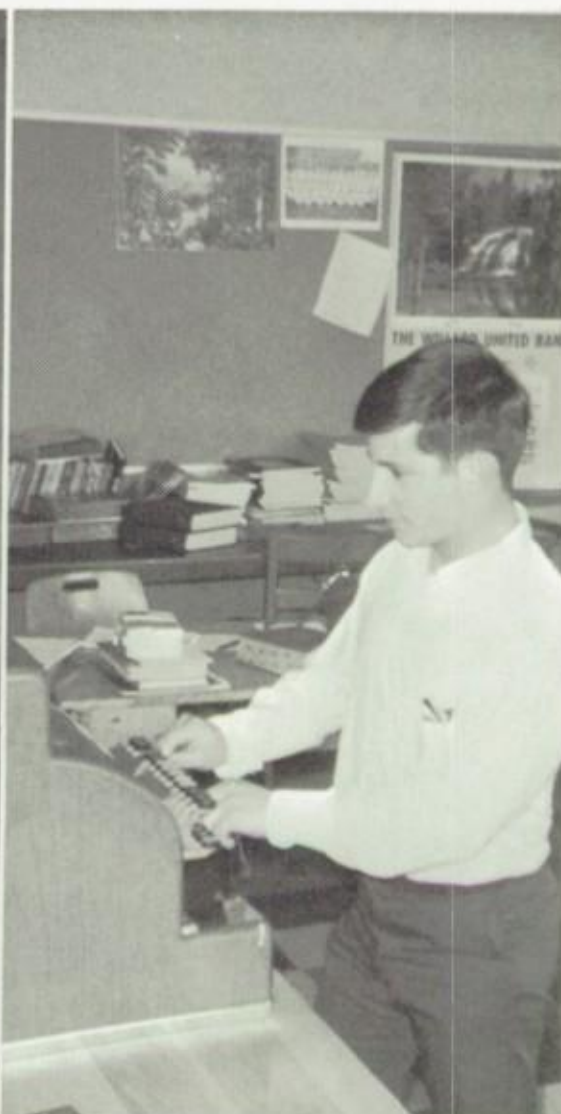

Jeff Thompson works in the industrial arts shop.

Vikki Seward does her studies on the board.

Larry Bisignano learns how to work a cash register.

Advertisements played a vital part in financing the 1967 CHIEF. Advertisers were also part of the lives of students at WHS. Students, teachers, and the school patronized the advertisers. Gloria Barrison learns to tabulate a bill in Distributive Education class. Jon Moll carries a heavy load of groceries for a customer at the Holland Market. Tim Funk and Kieth Squires enjoy a snack after school at Lee's Drive In. The annual staff would like to thank all those who made a contribution to the World of WHS.

Cleaning lockers for the last time not only marked the end of the 1966-67 school year, but it also was a step in preparing for September, 1967. Similarly, graduation did not only mark the end of high school for the "Class of 1967," but it also was the commencing of a new life for the graduates.

Accumulated knowledge, workable skills, friendships, and all the unforgettable memories of years in the "World of WHS" have prepared the newest alumni members for new and bigger worlds.
